MAYORS MESSAGE

Always do right. This will gratify some people and astonish the rest.
Mark Twain

It has been a while since I last wrote you in April and a lot has gone on in your city since then. In an effort to save some tax dollars we have elected to publish the Taneytown Newsletter online (www.taneytown.org) rather then mail it. Please visit our web site during the month between the publication of the Taneytown Record to keep abreast of the latest happenings around town.

Your comments are welcome. Your council has been working with the 2011 budget (begins 7/2010) and I think we'll be in pretty good shape considering the large cuts in anticipated state funding. We have made a decision not to begin any new capital projects next year in order to conserve the funds we do have. All of the department heads turned in very realistic and conservative budgets. CITY OF TANEYTOWN HONORS THE "PEOPLE WHO MAKE IT HAPPEN"

On Saturday, April 27, 2010 at Roberts Mill Park, the City of Taneytown held a celebration to honor those special people who have given so much and who expect so little, our volunteers! Without their time, expertise and talents, many of our City programs and our organizational programs and events could and would not happen. Each volunteer was nominated by those of an organization or individuals; the top volunteer in each category had the most votes. It was a day meshing volunteers who have been involved for many years along with new volunteers (Continued on page 4)

CARL EBAUGH COUNCILMAN

Carl was born in Hanover, PA and has lived in Maryland, Bad Kreuznach, Germany and Pennsylvania. He has lived in Maryland since 1980 and in Taneytown since 1993. Carl and his wife, Barbara, have two children, Lt. Col. Kurt G. Ebaugh and Heike E. Mills. Carl has been blessed with three grandsons. Carl is retired from a 43 year career in sales, the last 24 spent in automotive sales here in Taneytown. He can still be found as a part-timer at Food Lion because he feels that contact with the community helps keep him informed of local issues. Carl was a 1961 graduate of Taneytown High School and he then spent one year at Western Maryland College before enlisting in the US Army. He has been active in the Lions Club and the American Legion. Carl was on the Zoning Board of Appeals for a number of years and most recently had been a member of the Taneytown Planning and Zoning Commission.

STREET SWEEPING

On Monday, June 21, 2010, the following streets will be swept: East and West Baltimore Street, Frederick Street, York Street, Roth Avenue, Baumgardner Avenue, Divern Street, Monocacy Circle, and Bancroft Street. Vehicles should not be parked on these streets until after they have been swept. Sweeping occurs between the hours of 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Should inclement weather prevail, sweeping will take place on the following Monday.

On Monday, July 19, 2010, the following streets will be swept: East and West Baltimore Street, Frederick Street, York Street, Church Street, West View Drive, Roberts Mill Road, Carroll Heights Drive, Bankard Terrace, and Canoe Court. Streetscape construction areas will not be swept. Vehicles should not be parked on these streets until after they have been swept. Sweeping occurs between the hours of 7 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Should inclement weather prevail, sweeping will take place on the following Monday.

TRASH & RECYCLING SCHEDULE CHANGE

Due to the Independence Day Holiday, collection will take place on Thursday, July 8, 2010 instead of Wednesday, July 7, 2010.

In addition to your home and business recycling efforts, please remember to recycle when you are in Memorial Park for picnics and recreation. There are designated recycling containers at each pavilion that are labeled “recycling items only.” Please do not place trash in the recycling containers.

MOSQUITO CONTROL

The City is again included in a cooperative mosquito program for the 2010 season. The Department of Agriculture (MDA) will implement a mosquito control plan based on principles of integrated pest management (IPM). The IPM plan will consist of surveillance of the mosquito population, stocking of mosquito-larvae eating fish where appropriate, use of larvicides, and/or application of mosquito adulticides. Property owners are encouraged to remove any unnecessary water-holding containers.

STORM WATER DRAINAGE INLETS

Please do not sweep or blow grass and debris into the street. This practice can block storm water pipes and inlet grates, causing water to backup into the street, creating flooding conditions.

Also, please report anyone seen dumping materials into the storm water drainage system to the Taneytown Police Department (410-751-1150) or the City Office (410-751-1100). It could be a threat to our environment.

STAFF RETIREMENT

Ron Corbin retired from his position with the City on April 13, 2010. Ron had worked for the City for over ten (10) years. A small luncheon was held in his honor. Should you see Ron on the street, please give him a pat on the back for his service to Taneytown.

significant savings realized in the medical benefit plan we provide our employees and our savings in electricity costs, we will be able to provide services at about the same level as last year, without any tax increase. Still, it will require diligence on the part of all city employees to hold the line on spending and require good management to maintain our fiscal strength. The public hearing for the budget will be held at the June Council meeting (June 14th). On a positive note we have been notified that we (Carroll County) have been approved for federal disaster funds to help us cope with the February snow storms (seems like just a bad memory, now). I don’t have the details at this writing, but any help will be appreciated.

Our Streetscape project is moving along at the scheduled pace. I know it might not seem like it but we are about 80% complete. Hopefully by next summer we will be able to see the final results of our struggles. Construction is about to move into the downtown area and as it does, areas now cordoned off with jersey walls will be opened up and traffic flow will improve in those areas. We did have a recent set back in that many of the new water connections that were installed during the Streetscape construction were found to be leaking. This has been remedied, mainly due to faulty parts used during the connections.

A few weeks ago we held the first annual volunteer recognition day at Roberts Mill Park. It was a great day and we had a good crowd. It was a real pleasure to be able to recognize some of the many volunteers that make Taneytown the great city that it is. I hope everyone had a chance to visit Swing into Spring, another annual event. This year we held it in Memorial Park, which really gave us room to spread out. I want to thank the many volunteers and vendors that make this day so special. Speaking of Memorial Park, at May’s Council meeting we approved a new merry-go-round to replace one that has been in service for many years. I know every time I go to the park I always notice how much fun the kids seem to be having on this piece of playground equipment. I think the new equipment will be a real step up. Make sure you bring the kids (& grandkids) down to the park so they can give it a try. The new merry-go-round should be installed by the end of June.

Recently the Council took action to replace our City Manager. At the same time they appointed me as acting City Manager and I must say I have new appreciation for the many tasks that come to this desk. We are seeking to replace the City Manager as soon as possible with a target date of July 1st. We have advertised for experienced candidates to submit their resume to council before June 18th. The council will evaluate these candidates and select the right one for the job. In the mean time staff, and myself will be at your disposal on any issues of concern.

With the coming of summer, we stop and remember those who have served in in our community who also want to continue to bring quality of life to our community and people our carnival, our park events, our church socials, dinners, our youth activities and athletic programs; without these valuable people, we would not have these functions.

CHOOSING A REVERSE MORTGAGE: IS A FIXED-RATE HECM RIGHT FOR YOU?

A reverse mortgage is a type of loan that allows homeowners age 62 and over to convert their home equity into cash. Unlike other types of home equity-based loans, monthly mortgage payments are not required.* Most reverse mortgages have adjustable interest rates that vary according to market conditions. But many consumers don't realize that fixed-rate reverse mortgages are also available.

With a fixed-rate reverse mortgage, you lock in an interest rate for the entire life of the loan - so you don't have to worry that it may increase. This option may be preferable to borrowers who wish to receive their reverse mortgage loan proceeds in a lump sum, and want the certainty of a stable interest rate.

Jim McCarron, CSA, a reverse mortgage consultant with MetLife Bank, suggests that consumers consider a few important questions when choosing a reverse mortgage. "It's important to ask yourself not only, Do I need a reverse mortgage? but also What are my particular needs, and which type of reverse mortgage best meets those needs?"

Explains Mr. McCarron, "A fixed-rate reverse mortgage may be suited, for example, to older homeowners who would be more comfortable knowing that their interest rate will not change.

THE SILVER FANCY GARDEN CLUB Completes SPRING PROGRAM

The Silver Fancy Garden Club completed their Spring Program at the Taneytown Library with 12 students ages 8 to 12 years of age. Two projects were completed. First each participant learned about terrariums. A lidded glass container was used starting with a layer of gravel, next a layer of charcoal, then planting soil and a plant of their choosing, with a few pieces of moss that was so abundant in most of our yards this year. The second project was a greenhouse made from a clear plastic glove where a dampened cotton ball with three seeds was placed into each finger slot. Blowing air into the glove and using a twisty tie the students can each start their own mini garden that will produce pumpkins, string beans, radishes, corn, and bird house gourds. The goal is to learn and have fun at the same time and to teach us to be good stewards of our land. This project was conducted by Silver Garden Club member Jackie Kegel, and assisted by Jane Purdie, a visiting garden club member.

BACK PAIN

Back pain has a number of causes, but one of the most common happens to be what I’m doing right now and, most likely, what you’re doing as you read this article: Sitting. If you spend a lot of your time sitting, you probably have the same problem I do - frequent back pain. Since sitting isn’t something we’re going to stop doing (at least not completely), we have to look for other ways to manage this kind of chronic back pain and exercise is just one of them.

For many people with back pain here’s what their experience has probably been like: They probably went to their family doctor first, or a chiropractor. Their visit likely only lasted 15 minutes or so…they poked around and confirmed that you do have back pain and gave you a prescription for the pain. Now before we go any further, let me ask you this: how in the heck is a prescription drug going to fix a physical problem like back pain?

Doctor visits, chiropractic adjustments, physical therapy, pain relievers, anti-inflammatories, new mattress, rub on creams, and the list goes on…

I’m sure you’ve tried several or maybe even many on that list yet your back still hurts.

The treatments aren’t working because of the approach. Most, if not all, of the treatments people receive for back pain are flawed from the start. Medicines just mask the pain and don’t get to the root cause of the muscle atrophy.

Here are 3 steps towards improving your back pain:

Step one: First, you must understand that pain is your body’s way of telling you something is wrong…don’t ignore it! And in order to fix it or get rid of it, you must first know what’s causing it.

Step two: Be open-minded. In order to find a solution you’ll need to be willing to learn and please don’t be afraid to look for and/or ask for help.

There are thousands of sources of information in the world on upper back pain, lower back pain and back pain in general, but if you don’t know how to sort through all that information it will be useless to you.

Step three: Take action now, you’re going to do it! You do not have to live with low back pain, upper back pain, sciatic pain, or any back pain for that matter and you can feel great again.

The two options that you are left with are:

1) Leave it up to your doctor or chiropractor and hope it gets taken care of… OR
2) You can take control of your back care yourself to ensure it gets cared for.

You may be feeling like there’s NO solution and maybe you’ve even resigned yourself to the fact that you’ll have back pain.

INFOPATHWAYS INTERN HELPS TO UPGRADE NETWORK AT TANEYTOWN POLICE STATION

InfoPathways intern Emily Thompson assisted in the installation and set-up of several new computers and a new server at the Taneytown Police Station, Taneytown, MD. Thompson, a senior at Francis Scott Key High School, has been interning with InfoPathways since February 2010 and will complete her internship this June. As a member of the network team, Thompson is gaining experience in proper network design and providing support to a variety of clients both in person and remotely. She often joins network experts Thom Bethune and Jovan Nikolovski in the setup of new computers and servers and participates in onsite network support. “When dealing with technology, you have to expect the unexpected, and I have gained a greater appreciation of the flexibility this career demands.” I have already learned a lot about the networking field and myself and I cannot wait to see what else I am able to learn over the next two months of my internship”, Thompson shared.

Taneytown’s Police Station benefited immediately from their technology updates; it all winds down to greater productivity. InfoPathways is thankful to the station and city for their willingness to give Thompson, and hopefully future interns, the opportunity to experience such a project. Chief Bill Tyler arrived just as the team began the upgrade; “InfoPathways once again shows how community oriented they are. By teaming up with the local high school, they are giving students the opportunity to explore technology from some of the finest experts in the field.”

Jennifer Adcock, the career counselor at FSK High, helped Thompson arrange her internship with InfoPathways. “The Career Connections Program is a win-win partnership for the students and employers involved. The students get a chance to ‘test drive’ their career while attending high school. In addition to being a cost effective recruitment strategy, the employer gets an opportunity to work with young talent and help develop their skills in a particular career field. We are very thankful for the support of our business partnerships, like with InfoPathways. Their time and efforts benefit the workforce of the future.”

For more information about Francis Scott Key High School’s Internship Program, contact Jennifer Adcock at 410-386-4589 or JLADCOC@k12.carr.org. To contact the Taneytown Police Station, call 410-751-1150. To contact InfoPathways, call (410) 751-9929.

festivities, and obviously, also permeated the environment in which hundreds of not-so-young and young have been and are being educated," said Sister Joan Keating, D.C., former teacher and Principal at MSS from 1987-1989.

Opening festivities on Friday, April 16 included a "Walk Down Memory Lane" with visitors reminiscing through old school memorabilia, touring the classrooms and meeting former colleagues and students. Some visitors had never seen the addition to the school that was completed in 2002. "The new main entrance was stunning! At first I did not realize that it was an entirely new wing and not merely a reconstruction of the old main entrance," said Peter Fitzpatrick, 1983 MSS graduate and current lawyer located in Frederick, MD.

Many former principals and teachers returned for the celebrations and opening ceremony. As part of a well-crafted play, each principal spoke to "current students" (and audience members) about their special memories and thoughts about Mother Seton School. Visiting Principals included Sister Natalie McCubbin (1973-1979), now retired and residing at the Villa St. Michael, Emmitsburg, MD; Sister Patricia Anne Bossle (1979-1983), President of Seton Keough High School, Baltimore, MD; Sister Mary Gilbart (1983-1987), Provincial Secretary, Emmitsburg, MD; Sister Joan Keating (1987-1989), Provincial Councilor, Emmitsburg, MD; Sister Mary Catherine Warehime (1991-1996), Provincial Councilor, Emmitsburg, MD; and Sister Mary Catherine Conway (1996-2006), Teacher, St. Ann's Infant and Maternity Home, Hyattsville, MD.

Dr. Ronald J. Valenti, Superintendent of Catholic Schools for the Archdiocese of Baltimore also attended and participated in the Opening Ceremony. “To be part of Mother Seton School’s 200th anniversary was a momentous occasion. It was a defining moment in realizing that St. Elizabeth Ann Seton’s vision continues to be alive and well. Years have gone by, but her mission remains strong and deeply rooted,” said Dr. Valenti.

Saturday, April 17 brought MSS Alumni back home to visit their alma mater with a Homecoming Social. Mother Seton School, a direct descendant of Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton’s Free School of 1810, was built in 1956 and then relocated to the current location in 1965. Graduates from every decade celebrated and enjoyed reuniting with former classmates and teachers.

Visitors to the Shrine of Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton were surprised to find standing room only at her Basilica in Emmitsburg on Sunday, April 18. A Eucharistic Celebration, celebrated by Msgr. Martin Feild, pastor of St. Joseph’s Church in Taneytown, and concelebrated by local parish priests from all over Frederick County, attracted hundreds of families and friends associated with Mother Seton School. Current MSS students proudly wore their school uniforms and actively participated in much of the celebratory mass. Adrianna Bussey and Vanessa Witmer, both third graders at Mother Seton School and both ribbon dancers for the celebration shared how exciting it was. “It was pretty cool because it was such a special occasion,” said Adrianna. Chorus students, led by Music Teacher, Cheryl Carney, sang “Hymn to St. Elizabeth Ann Seton” and provided hand bell accompaniment to the recessional hymn. Afterwards, refreshments, music, and a moon bounce were provided by the MSS Home School Association so that all could linger in the excitement of the celebration a little longer and say their farewells to each other. “Words cannot fully express the joy, energy, and gratitude experienced these past few days by so many alumni, friends, benefactors, students and parents,” said Sister JoAnne Goecke, D.C. and current Principal at Mother Seton School. Remembering a quote of Saint Elizabeth Ann Seton “Oh! The goodness of our God in everything,” Sister JoAnne stated, “God has been good to us this Bicentennial Year.”
WASHING YOUR VEHICLE WITHOUT WATER

Do you remember when the fastest means of communication was rushing home to make a phone call? Today, almost every person between the ages of 10 and 100 have a handy little phone attached to their side 24/7. How about writing to someone? You had to sit down and hand write a letter and pay 30+ cents only for it to make it to it’s destination a week later. Now we have the quick and free convenience of Email. Where am I getting with all of this? Technology! Technology has, and will continue, to change our lives forever. Technology brings new ideas to simplify daily tasks as well as make them more efficient.

Another example of technology is waterless car wash products. Actually, waterless wash is not all that new. In fact, many companies have been manufacturing them since the late 90’s. However, many of you may have never heard of such products due to skepticism or just the fact you never imagined such a product could exist. Washing your car without water may simply sound ridiculous to some. How does it not scratch the paint? Doesn’t it just push the dirt around rather than remove it? These are just some of the questions I receive every day since the opening of my waterless mobile detailing company. At first, I found myself repeating the same answers over and over again only to have the person no more convinced than when they approached me. Now, I’ll give them a quick and general answer and then offer them a demo. Thus far, I have yet to come across a single person who isn’t amazed at the results. During one demo, I had an “old school” car enthusiast lay on the ground just to make sure he wasn’t missing a scratch somewhere due to the direction the sun was shining. Shortly after his more than thorough exam, he stated “WOW, it really does work good”.

Since I can’t show you with words, I will quickly explain the process of how you wash a car without using water. We at Maryland Mobile Detailing use a product line called Ultra Luster. Ultra Luster is a Jacksonville, Florida based company that specializes in complete waterless wash technology. After doing a ridiculous amount of research and testing of several waterless wash brands, I decided the Ultra Luster line would work best for us and the climate here in Maryland. The way the product works is it is chemically formulated to lift the dirt from the paint and has microscopic lubricants that encase the dirt to ensure a smooth removal. Not only does it remove the dirt, but it also leaves an acrylic polymer polish on the clear coat protecting your vehicle from harmful UV rays and other elements.

The process is simple. The product comes in an eco-friendly “atomizer” which you manually hand pump about 3 or 4 times to build pressure. You spray the product on the car (no need to pre-rinse the vehicle), take a terrycloth towel and spread the product and remove the dirt (you will literally see all of the dirt that was on the vehicle, now on your towel), then use a microfiber towel to buff the area and activate the polishing process. That’s it! You will have a clean and polished vehicle in a third of the time it would take you with a bucket of water and sponge. Best of all, there is no need to meticulously dry the vehicle only to still have frustrating water spots and streaks.

Aside from ease, waterless washing is the best way to wash your vehicle because it is so eco-friendly. Every time a vehicle is washed with traditional soap and water, 100-200 gallons of water are wasted. Not to mention the runoff of chemicals into local soil and water drains. Every year, more and more local governments are cracking down with water restrictions. All of our services are eco-friendly and do not involve any harmful aerosol cans or cleaners and, of course, are waterless.

Technology has brought us some of the greatest inventions to make our lives easier and better. Waterless washing is just one of those. I predict it will be the future of all vehicle washing. Do your part to help the planet and consider making your next wash, waterless. I’m sure you’ll be happy with the results and will want to toss the old bucket and sponge!

and who also want to receive their proceeds as a lump sum, so they can immediately use the money to pay off any existing debts, make needed home improvements, or adapt their home to their current needs.

With all reverse mortgages, the borrowers continue to own their home, and can continue to live in it as long as they want. The loan doesn't have to be repaid until they permanently leave or sell the home. However, they are still responsible for paying homeowner's insurance and property taxes, and maintaining the home in reasonable condition.

The vast majority of reverse mortgages - approximately 90% - are Home Equity Conversion Mortgages (HECMs). These are the only reverse mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Authority (FHA).

All reverse mortgages include fees and closing costs, the amount of which varies by lender. MetLife Bank was the first national lender in the industry to announce the elimination of the origination and monthly servicing fees from its fixed-rate HECM, available in all 50 states.

This pricing option reduces the cost to homeowners and enables them to receive additional loan proceeds.

Notes Mr. McCarron, "MetLife Bank also offers the highest principal limit allowed in a fixed-rate HECM reverse mortgage. And although you can choose from among several different payment options to receive your proceeds, by choosing to take the loan proceeds in a lump sum at closing, you can receive MetLife Bank's lowest interest rate."

For consumers who may be considering a reverse mortgage, MetLife Bank offers free educational materials, including a comprehensive information kit and video, without obligation. For more information about a MetLife Bank Fixed-rate HECM or other reverse mortgage products, contact Jim McCarron at 410-756-5006.

*Although there are no monthly mortgage payments, interest accrues on the portion of the loan amount disbursed.

If you’re a homeowner age 62 and older and find it hard to cover your everyday expenses, a MetLife Bank reverse mortgage may be able to help you.

With a reverse mortgage, you can:
- Continue to live in and own your home
- Tap into the equity you’ve built in your home to pay for the things you need
- Make no monthly mortgage payments — the loan is not due until the last borrower permanently leaves or sells the home

At MetLife Bank, we’re dedicated to helping our customers maintain their financial independence, so they can focus on what’s most important in their lives. Should you decide that a reverse mortgage is right for you, I will work with you through every step of the loan process.

BACK PAIN

pam for the rest of your life. I hope that’s not the case because you do have the power and ability to eliminate it. If you choose option one, leaving your back health in the hands of someone other than yourself, at least educate yourself enough to know what questions you need to be asking.

The next time you go to the doctor or chiropractor, bring a pen and paper along with the list of questions below:
1. What is the cause of the pain? (Not the symptom, but the actual cause)
2. Is it muscular or structural? (involving the bones of the spine)
3. If it’s muscular have the doctor, chiropractor, physical therapist, etc name exactly which muscles may be involved.
4. Do I need an X-ray, CT-scan or MRI?
5. Did I have a predisposition for the injury based on my life style and daily postures?
6. Do I have muscle imbalances that created this condition over time?
7. Will I have muscle imbalances still after your treatment?
8. Will it heal 100%?
9. Are there specific exercises or stretches to do for my condition?
10. Which muscles should I stretch and which muscles should I strengthen?
11. Will I do more harm than good if I don’t do the right activities?
12. Will the physical therapist you are sending me to have the time to spend one on one with me to effectively work with me?
13. Will Ultra Sound and Electrical Stimulation correct my muscle imbalances?

If you and your doctor have determined that your back pain is caused by lifestyle habits continue reading. If your back pain is caused by a more serious condition consult your doctor.

BACK PAIN ACTION PLAN
Managing and preventing back pain isn’t easy, but it can be done as long as you’re willing to make some changes in how you live. Your first step is to determine what’s causing your back pain and if you have a condition that needs special treatment.

Back pain, whether it be chronic or acute, is one of the most agonizing experiences one could endure. Ask anyone who has any...

significant degree of back pain, and they will attest to the restrictions it presents: limited range of movement, reduced mental focus, a sense of helplessness and even severe depression can result from a back injury.

While any form of back pain should be assessed by a qualified medical practitioner, certain exercises can greatly reduce pain, enhance range of movement and improve quality of life. However, before engaging in any type of exercise program, it is strongly advised that one gain approval from their physician.

By working the main supporting muscles, back pain can be prevented, lessened, and, in some cases, healing is facilitated. The key supporting muscles of the back include the entire back musculature (the erectors in particular), abdominal region, glutealis (muscles of the backside), and the obliques (on the sides of the body), and a wide range of specific exercises can be used to target these areas.

The back and glutealis muscles are called the extensors, as they are used to straighten the back, and lift, extend and abduct (move away from) the hip. The abdominal muscles are often referred to as the flexors, as they are used to bend and support the spine from the front, while the obliques stabilize the spine in an upright position.

The obliques also help to maintain correct posture and spinal curvature. Training all these muscles in the correct manner, with the right exercises, will keep the back functioning as it should, and help to correct any problems from which pain occurs.

To reiterate, the main benefits to exercising the back and abdominal muscles include:

- Injury protection: stronger muscles respond better to a wide range of stressors.
- Reduce the likelihood of chronic or acute back pain.
- Enhance healing after spinal surgery or back injury.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT EXERCISES FOR ACUTE OR CHRONIC PAIN

The types of exercises to control back pain, or prevent it from occurring in the first place, vary, depending on the specific stage one is at. One is advised to begin with a few basic exercises to address acute pain, and progress to a larger number of more advanced movements after pain has subsided, or due to the nature of the pain, use exercise selected for either the acute or chronic phases.

Finally there are those exercises that can purely be used for prevention.

With all exercises, stop if pain increases. Do not continue exercise! It is advised that exercises are attempted with the blessing of one's physician.

For best results, perform relevant exercises, grouped into a session, three-times-per-week with one day off in between. These exercises can also be done at the end of a regular gym workout.

SQUATS:

Squats are deemed the king of all exercises, and for strengthening of the lower back and hips, they are unsurpassed. For preventative purposes, squats will help to build thickness into entire lower trunk region, thus providing structural support.

Ideally squats will be performed with weights, which will be increased in line with improvements in strength. However, for the purposes of this article, squats will be done without any weight initially - weight will be added as one progresses.

To perform, stand with feet shoulder width apart, and pelvis tucked in and hands placed on opposing shoulders. Then, bend at the knees and descend until buttocks are slightly below knee level. Push back to starting position. Maintain a straight spine through movement.

LEG CURLS:

Leg curls will strengthen the buttocks and back of leg (hamstrings), and are essential for balancing out leg development, which will help to ensure greater stability for the (Continued on page 28)

our armed forces on Memorial Day. Each year we mark this event with a ceremony held at our Hesson-Snyder Post of the American Legion. This is quite a moving event, one that I am proud to say I have attended and participated in for many years. I wonder each year though, why more of our citizens don’t come out for this time. I encourage you to try to attend this year. This is a great way to teach our children about the many sacrifices that have been made to ensure their freedom. The event will begin at 2 PM at the Legion on the corner of Broad St. and Roberts Mill Rd. No tickets or reservations are needed, just show up! It doesn’t take too long, but it’s worth every minute.

In June, summer begins! It’s time for cook outs and vacations, picnics and parties. It’s also a time for Flag Day, an often forgotten holiday (June 14th) Let’s all try to fly “Old Glory” on that day. It’s also a time for graduations and weddings and I want to offer my special congratulations to our graduates and wish them every success in their future. Congratulations to those who will be married during this traditional “wedding month”. The family is the heart of our City, our nation, and our society. Today, when there are so many challenges facing the family, it is reason to celebrate those who step out together to carry on our traditions and culture. Thanks!

To perform, lie on leg curl bench and place heels under pads. Curl legs to the buttocks, to achieve complete contraction. Slowly lower, and repeat for at least 10 repetitions.

PASSIVE EXTENSION FOR NECK:

This exercise is useful during the acute phase of neck pain. It strengthens rear neck muscles, and provides help to enhance correct alignment of the spine, and posture.

To perform, lie on back on a soft surface, with shoulders resting on the edge. Head should be supported by the hands and positioned over the edge of surface. Then, lower head gently, while breathing out.

Let the hands take the weight of the head as it falls back. Eventually lower the head all the way back to a full extension, and remove hands. Try holding for up to one minute. Progress to a longer period as neck becomes stronger.

FINAL THOUGHTS

Back pain management is almost becoming essential in today’s world of obesity, lowered physical activity and increasing injury stemming from sitting for long periods and the like. Back pain can, in fact, be one of the most debilitating experiences. Fortunately, there are a variety of effective ways in which to manage acute, and chronic, back pain, with exercise being one of the most easily accessible and proven methods.

The exercises featured in this article are all effective in treating the specific problems highlighted. However, there are many more beneficial movements which enhance back strength, stability and postural alignment, and these will be the focus of a future article.

As mentioned, it is advised that one contact their physician to get a second opinion on whether the advice in this article will benefit them.

Downtown Fitness has all the machines necessary to do the above mentioned exercises and more. Call 410-756-2060 to get started on relieving that back pain now.
